INDICTMENT

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

At all times material to this Indictment:

COUNT ONE

[Conspiracy To Commit Money Laundering
Title 18, United States Code, 1956(h)]

A. Introduction

1. Beginning no later than January 1, 1998, and continuing to the present, there existed a large-scale criminal organization known as the "Gulf Cartel." The armed branch or 'muscle' of the Gulf Cartel was known as the "Zetas," or "Los Zetas," comprised in part of military deserters from the armed forces of Mexico. The headquarters of the Gulf Cartel was in Matamoros, Tamaulipas, Mexico, across the international border from the city of Brownsville, Texas.

2. The Gulf Cartel conducted numerous criminal activities, including, but not limited to: (a) the acquisition, possession, and distribution of large quantities of controlled substances, including marihuana and cocaine; (b) smuggling controlled substances to the United States; (c) extortions; (d) kidnappings; and (e) murders.

3. The primary destination market for controlled substances acquired by the Gulf Cartel was the United States. Cocaine and marihuana were distributed in the Southern and Western Districts of Texas and elsewhere in the United States. Proceeds from the distribution of cocaine and marihuana consisted of large amounts of United States currency, which were transported in the reverse direction, that is, from the United States to the State of Tamaulipas in Mexico.

4. To ensure the continuation of their illegal enterprises, members and associates of the Gulf Cartel used portions of the proceeds derived from the activities articulated in paragraphs two (2) and three (3), above, to pay large bribes to high-level elected officials in the State of Tamaulipas and candidates for such offices on an ongoing basis. These bribes were paid in exchange for little or no police interference or forbearance of police action concerning the Gulf Cartel's narcotics trafficking and money laundering activities within the State of Tamaulipas.

5. The bribes were paid directly to corrupt high-level elected officials and candidates for office, and their respective allies, police authorities, and persons within the justice sector of the State of Tamaulipas. This practice occurred at least beginning 1998 through the present, and the aggregate sum of all bribes so paid is unknown, but it is estimated to be well into the millions of dollars.

B. The Conspiracy

6. From on or about January 1, 1998, and continuing thereafter up to the date of this indictment, in the Southern District of Texas and elsewhere, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, the Defendant,

FERNANDO ALEJANDRO CANO MARTINEZ,

did knowingly combine, conspire, and agree with other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury to commit an offense defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(a)(2)(B)(i), to-wit: to transport, transmit, and transfer, and attempt to transport, transmit, and transfer monetary instruments and funds involving the proceeds of specified unlawful activity as defined by Title 18,

United States Code, Section 1956(c)(7)(B), to include narcotics trafficking, bribery, and theft, to a place in the United States from or through a place outside the United States, knowing that the monetary instruments and funds involved in the transportation, transmission, and transfer represented the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity, and knowing that such transportation, transmission, and transfer was designed in whole or in part to conceal and disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, and control of the proceeds of specified unlawful activity, as that term is defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(c)(7)(B), to include narcotics trafficking, bribery, and theft.

C. The Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

7. It was a part of the conspiracy that FERNANDO ALEJANDRO CANO MARTINEZ (CANO) would and did frequently and routinely receive and control large bribe payments destined for the benefit of holders of and candidates for high-level elected offices and positions within the State of Tamaulipas. These bribes were transmitted by members and associates of the Gulf Cartel, but also by others for purposes unrelated to Cartel business.

8. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CANO, among other things, would and did frequently and routinely direct or oversee the transfer of proceeds and 'earnings' from said proceeds from Mexico to the United States, and these transfers were conducted in a manner designed to conceal the ownership, nature, source, and control of such proceeds.

9. It was further a part of the conspiracy that when such proceeds reached the United States, CANO would and did use such proceeds to purchase assets in the United States, and these purchases were made using third-party or nominee names. Said proceeds were also used to fund ongoing costs associated with some of said assets.

10. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CANO, together with one or more unindicted co-conspirators, would and did form a series of business entities under the laws of the State of Texas, which entities included limited liability companies ("LLCs") and limited partnerships ("L.P.s").

11. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CANO, together with one or more unindicted co-conspirators, would and did establish and use these LLCs and L.P.s as business 'fronts.' By utilizing these LLC's and L.P.s as business fronts, CANO, together with one or more unindicted co-conspirators, did fraudulently obtain loans and credit from federally insured banking institutions inside the United States.

12. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CANO, together with one or more unindicted co-conspirators, would and did use the business 'fronts' as means by which to hide the true ownership, nature, source, and control of the proceeds of the aforementioned illegal activities.

(r) Beginning in or about 2007, and continuing thereafter to in or about 2009, CANO, and/or one or more unindicted co-conspirators, caused the funds to be transferred yet again, from Monex to accounts held in financial institutions within the United States, oftentimes the same day the funds arrived at Monex. These United States accounts included Account No. XXX539, a Premier account held at Inter National Bank, McAllen, Texas, and Account No. XXX879, a Cantera Parkway account held at First National Bank, Brownsville, Texas.
